A READING FROM THE BOOK OF CONCORD TWENTY-FOURTH SUNDAY AFTER PENTECOST LARGE CATECHISM, PART II, APOSTLES' CREED ARTICLE I

We confess that God has not only given us all that we have, but He daily preserves and defends us against all evil. He directs all sorts of danger away from us. He does all this out of pure love and goodness, without our merit, as a kind Father. He cares for us so that no evil falls upon us.

Now, all that we have, and whatever else is in heaven and upon the earth, is daily given, preserved, and kept for us by God. Therefore, it is clearly concluded that it is our duty to love, praise, and thank Him for these things without ceasing. In short, we should serve Him with all these things, as He demands and has taught in the Ten Commandments.

Few people believe this article. We all pass over it, hear it, and say it. Yet we do not consider what the words teach us. For if we believed this teaching, we would also act according to it. We would not strut about proudly and boast as though we had life, riches, power, honor, and such, of ourselves. We would not act as though others must fear and serve us. The world is drowned in blindness and abuses all the good things and God's gifts only for its own pride, greed, lust, and luxury. It never once thinks about God, thank Him or acknowledge Him as Lord and Creator.

This article ought to humble us all. For we sin daily with eyes, ears, hands, body and soul, money and possessions, and with everything we have. (paragraphs 17-22)

Life Quotes

“To be sure, our God Father does not give the vocation of a large family to everyone. (And, of course, any quantity of family and offspring He bestows is a great benefit.) But we need not despise proliferation the way the world does. Indeed, we may appreciate and assist our brothers and sisters who engage in this holy (and delightful!) calling. And we may also raise our young ones to cherish procreation and adoption more than any personal preferences or material possessions. The blessings of children always outweigh even the burdens!”

Rev. Michael W. Salemink, Executive Director of Lutherans For Life (USA)

About the Cover: The master entrusted his servants with large amounts of money. It was to be put to good use, not buried. In the same way, our Lord has given us the great treasure of His Word and many other gifts to be put to use and invested into the lives of others. All the while, the results are in His hands, just as we ourselves are in the hands of our gracious Master.
